Thus improved and perfected, it is believed that no other Universal History can compare with this, for the fullness and accuracy of its statements, the convenience of its arrangement, the clearness, simplicity and dignity of its style, for the consequent interests which it excites, and the valuable instruction which it imparts, or for the durability and neatness of its mechanical excention.

From Rev. Dr. Teft, late President of Gennessee College.

Gentlemen:—Having made a particular examination of Goodrich's "History of All Nations," I am free to say, that I know of no work, great or small, that centains half the amount of useful and entertaining matter for family reading. It is written in Mr. Goodrich's best style. It is a library, a historical library of itself; and it is worth, according to the usual cest of good reading, two or three times the money yen ask for it. It is no wonder that you have to keep a power press running constantly to supply the orders for these volumes; for the public have only to know their value to make them a milversal want with all classes.

I am, gentlumen, most respectfully yours,

B. F. TEFFT. From Rer. Dr. Teft, late President of Gennessee Col-

Extract from a Letter from Ex-President Fillmore Extract from a Letter from Ex-President Fillmore.

1 think it eminently deserving of the public patronage. It is necessarily brief; but it brings under review, with its admirable illustrations, the principal subjects worthy of attention in all nations, and to the young especially, it is invaluable.

I have been familiar with Mr. Goodrich's writing for many years, and have the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with him; and think him admirably qualified for imparting instruction in a way that brings a within the reach of the common mind.

At the dinner given by the city author-Edward Everett was introduced by the cheers. He spoke as follows:

MR. MAYOR: I feel greatly honored by the manner in which you have called upon me to respond to the toast given to the memory of Washington. I have elsewhere thought it right to say that to be named power, had imitated the great example Mr. George Wilkes was his coadjutor case? The Duke defended Mr. Rarey, in connection with him is an honor so far beyond any desert of mine that there would be a degree of vanity in thinking it necessary to disclaim it. You will give me credit, if not for the self-knowledge and humility, at least for the good taste, which would lead me to put far aside any such association with that great name, which, more than any other name of human renown, has drawn to itself in incommunicably the gratitude and affection of his own countrymen, and the admiration of mankind. But I may, without pre-sumption, return you my thanks for affording me the opportunity of giving utterance on your behalf, and on the behalf of the city of Boston, to the emotions with which the mention of that illustrious name, ever honored, ever dear, must warm the besom of the true patriot on the anniver sary of our National Independence. I feel, sir, more and more as I advance in life, and watch with mingled confidence, solicitude and hope, and development of the momentous drama of our national existence seeking to penetrate that future which his Excellency has so eloquently foreshadowed, that it is well worth our while, that it is at once one of our highest social duties and important privileges to celebrate with ever increasing solemnity-with annually augumented pomp and circumstance of festal commemeration-the anniversary of the nation's birth, were it only as affording a fitting occasion to bring the character and services of Washington, with ever fresh recognition, to the public notice, as the great central figure of that unparalleled group, that "noble army" of chieftain sages and patriots, by whom the revolution was accomplished. This is the occasion, and here is the spot, and this the day, and we citizens of Boston are the men, if any in the land, to throw wide open the portals of the Temple of Memory and Fame, and there gaze with the eyes of a reverent and grateful imagination on his benignant countenance and majestic form. This is the occasion and the day, who needs to be told how much the cause of independence owes to the services and character of Washington, to the purity of that stainless purpose, to the Ermness of that resolute soul? This is the spot, this immortal hall, from which, as from an altar, went forth the burning coals that kindled into a consum fire at Lexington and Concord, at Bunker Hill and Dorchester Heights. All were satisfied that in this great era of his life he had been true to the cause of justice and of lib erty and of the American Union, and that above all he had on that occasion been true to the honor and good name of Old Kentucky. We hope in our next to give a more extended outline of this speech and regret that we have to leave it

After the speech, the company partook of the ample provisions that had been most lavishly prepared by the spontaneous offering of the citizens of Woodford. When the dinner was over, the company again assembled around the stand. and the Hon. George Robertson was loudly called upon to address them. Although entirely unprepared for auch an invitation, the Judge, nevertheless, made oue of his able and states manlike specches, taking for his theme and as a rinn, containing $420. Lecomptonism in Missouri.

As showing how the Lecompton question enters into the Congressional canvass in Missouri, and especially in the St. Louis district, the following from the Democrat, will be read with interest. Mr. Breckinridge is the American candidate, and Mr. Barret Administration-both unning against Blair:

The Republican of yesterday merely mentioneil a little incident of the discussion at Central township en Saturday. It says:

"Mr. Breckinridge occupied his time in the sual way; and when he propounded the inquiry to Mr. Barret, whether he would have voted as Woodson and Anderson had done, in favor of the admission of Kansas under the Lecom Constitution, that gentleman answered boldly that he would. Mr. Breekinridge made nothing by

We think Mr. Breckinrilge made a good deal by that motion. The whole circumstances are these: At Creve Cœur, a strong pro-slavery dis-trict, Mr. Barret thought he would make an extensive point against Mr. Breckinridge, and cordingly in the midst of his speech, suddenly swelled up to his largest proportions, and with the most impressive gestures and mouthings, de sired to know if Mr. Breckinridge would voted with Anderson and Woodson on the Lc compton question, had he been in Congress last spring. Mr. Breckinridge replied promptly he would not. This was a stunner, thought Mr. Barret, and his friends congratulated him ou the success of his manouvre. The Republican ap

At Central Township, on Saturday, Mr. Breckinridge, in the course of his remarks, adverted to the circumstance at Creve Cour with sur erise. He sald ever since the canvass had com neuced, he had denounced the Lecompton business, and supported the measures of Mr. Critten den in that respect, and of course was opposed to the course of Anderson and Woodson responding to the interrogatory, and did so at once; and now, in perfect fairness, doing as he the crowd with no little trepidation and annov ance in his face. Said Mr. Breckinridge, with beautiful glow of satisfaction on his visage: "Would you, Mr. Barret, have voted with Anderson and Woodson for Lecompton, had you been in Congress last spring?" There was no escape—no dodging, as heretofore—and true to his instincts and his party, Mr. Barret answered, "I would."

This then fixes Mr. Barret on the record. He

Such things are, or at least should be, enough to startle the nation into

"THE DENOCRACY A UNIT."-The Richmond Democracy, says:

The difference involves more passion than principle, and if the division of the Illinois Democracy is to be perpetuated upon it, it must lead to a war of facmore disreputable and disorganizing than that of the "Shells" in New York, and at last in giving will be kept at the old stand of W. Judge Douglas may be said to be responsible for this unfortunate setism in the Democracy of Illinois, as it grew out of his course upon the Kansas question at the last session of Congress, but his opponents in the Democratic party will be responsible for its continuance, and for all the disastrous results which will be produced by it, if it is not speedily harmonized. They are a minority—a faction, we should say—arrayed against the great body of the Illinois Democracy, and icoparding its success by making a test of party. jeoparding its success by making a test of party orthodoxy upon a question which has spent itself, and which the majority are willing to consider as an extinct issue. Under these circumstances, persistence in their opposition to Judge Douglas, and to the regular nominees of the Democratic party, whatever may have been its propriety and its necessity, in its inception, will show a factious, disorganizing, and vindictive spirit, and fasten upon them the responsibility for all the conseuences which may follow a division of the

THE DE RIVIERE AFFAIR .- The principle topic of conversation last evening was the Rivicre affair, in New York, the full particulars of which were published in our evening paper. While conversing with a friend who was with Col. Blount while he was in this city, searching for the runaways, he related to us a piece of infor-mation regarding the gallant leader of the "for-lorn hope," which was not altogether new to us, and about which we had privately expressed ne doubts. He says that in a conversation with Col. Blount at the St. Charles Hotel, the Col. remarked to him that De Riviere wore mail and related the manner in which he had discovered

He said that immediately after Rivlere had een shot by Captain Maury in the duel at Mohile, the physician after examinining the danger-ous wound in the face, wished to examine where the first ball had struck in his side on the half dollar in the vest pocket. To this latter proposal Riviere strenuously objected and would allow no one to come near him until after he was placed in bed at Colonel Blounts residence. He then requested that Mrs. Blount should examino examination. it. The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of humau life, caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeou, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give MEDICAL ADVICE GRATIS, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their coudition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c...) and in eases of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICAES FREN OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The lirectors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in his sphere of benevolent effort, have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very liaportant but much despised causes.
